

Data classification standard

Public data may be shared externally after normal review. Internal data is limited to authorized staff. Confidential data requires role-based access and approved business use. Restricted data needs explicit owner approval and additional safeguards.

Access tokens, refresh tokens, provider client secrets, passwords, and production private keys are always Restricted. They must not be included in knowledge-base uploads, tickets, logs, screenshots, or chat history.

Document owners review classification when purpose, audience, or regulation changes. Delete obsolete content through the application lifecycle so derived vectors are cleaned up as well.
